

Know Your Copy Rights™

Often you can use works in your teaching without permission or fee.

Public domain works, your own works, open access works, electronic works licensed by your institution, electronic works with a Creative Commons license, and other works can be used in a live classroom, posted in an online class, distributed as readings, or create electronic reserves.

Can		Proposed Use
		Exhibit materials in a live classroom?	Post materials to an online class?	Distribute readings?	Create electronic reserves?
Legal Status of Work To Be Used	Works Not Copyrighted	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
	Your Own Works	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
	Open Access Works	Yes	Link	Link	Link
	Electronic Works Licensed by Your Institution	Yes	Link	Link	Link
	Electronic Works with a Creative Commons License	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes
	Other Works	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

Brought to you by your institution's library and

ASSOCIATION OF RESEARCH LIBRARIES

www.arl.org

Public domain works, your own works, open access works, electronic works licensed by your institution, electronic works with a Creative Commons license, and other works can be used in a live classroom, posted in an online class, distributed as readings, or create electronic reserves.

Public domain works, your own works, open access works, electronic works licensed by your institution, electronic works with a Creative Commons license, and other works can be used in a live classroom, posted in an online class, distributed as readings, or create electronic reserves.